LETTER MAILED HERE TELLS OF PLOT AGAINST KETCHEL

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 28.—A letter received today by the chief of police for Springfield, signed "Mrs. Maud Nugget" and mailed in Salt Lake, purports to give facts of an alleged conspiracy hatched by Walter Dipley and Mrs. Goldie Smith to rob and attack Stanley Ketchel, the middleweight champion pugfilst, who was shot and fatally wounded near Conway, Mo., Oc-

Mrs. Nugget asserts that the Smith woman wrote her of the plans against Ketchel, and the chief of police has wired the officials at Salt Lake to learn the identity of Mrs. Nugget and, if possible gain possession of the Smith lettic wists bipley and Mrs. Smith are having their preliminary hearing at Marsh-field, Mo., where they are held on a charge of murder. The hearing began this morning. The first testimony introduced was practically the same as

Not Known Here.

S. M. Barlow, chief of police, admitted having received a wire from Springfield asking information about Mrs. Maud Nugget. After an investigation Chief Barlow wired back that no woman of that name could be found in Sait Lake and no trace of her was obtainable. Chief Barlow believes the name signed to the letter was assumed.

Stayer Bound Over.

Marshfield, Mo., Oct. 28.—Waiter A. Dipley, slayer of Stanley Ketchel, and Goldie Smith were bound over to await the action of the circuit court in the case here today. Dipley was heid without bond. The woman's bond was fixed at $5,000. She was unable to give it. Emmet A. Newton, a Springfield, Mo., newspaper man, testified today that Ketchel told him before he died that the man and woman had robbed him after the shooting. R. P. Dickerson, upon whose ranch the killing took place, corroborated the newspaper man's story.

When Ketchel went to the ranch two when Ketchel went to the ranch two days before he was shot he carried with him about $500 in currency. This was missing when assistance reached him after he had been wounded.

Reports from Nelson's camp say that the Dane is showing up strong and he will enter the ring for the ten-round go close to a 1 to 2 favorite.

Shown above with Nelson is "One Round" Hogan, who for a while was talked of as Bat's opponent before LaGrave was signed. Hogan is well known in Sait Lake, having appeared two years ago at the St. Regis club's amateur goes. He won every bout and local fans know that his one-round ability is not just a mere name. Hogan has been rising fast on the coast and it has been hinted that Nelson wanted an easier proposition than Hogan to show that he could come back. Hogan and Nelson may yet meet, although Owen Moran seems to have the next crack at the former lightweight champion.

American turf, has been a long, but steady, pull for Sam Hildreth, but he is there with pretty nearly $150,000 to represent his winning stakes and purses this year. Much of Hildreth's success on the turf is due to his knowledge of farriery. There is a blacksmith when he chooses to do so he shoes his own horses. He always directs the shoeing. He studies the action of the horse and shoes accordingly. Very rarely is there any speedy-cutting or calking with the Hildreth horses. He is always studying and experimenting, and will try out anything in the shape of his horses. If he thought a pair of ordinary rubber heels, such as men wear upon their shoes, would help one of his horses, he'd put them on. If there were more such practical and studious farriers among the trainers, there would be more successful turfment and fewer bad-footed, bad-legged horses.
